We also have a free movie games section, you can find a good game here, and of course, game. Allergic contact dermatitis to mercurial compounds. In the last two decades, mercurial compounds have been used in many cosmetics and personal care products. The purpose of this study was to define the prevalence of allergic contact dermatitis to mercurials. We conducted a patch test evaluation of all subjects referred for patch testing over a 5-year period. Our findings support the observation that mercurial-induced allergic contact dermatitis is an infrequent problem. The site most commonly involved was the neck. The frequency of positive reactions to mercurials in our population of 3.2 million as measured over a 5-year period was 0.049%. This low prevalence may be due to the decrease in the use of mercury compounds in cosmetics and the education of the public regarding the need to use nonallergenic personal care products. Q: How do I make a combobox get the selected item from another combobox? I have two comboboxes on my form. One with a list of subcategories. And then a combo box that gets the selected value from the list of subcategories. I want to make a text box show the value that the combo box shows. How do I go about doing this? A: What I think you're asking is: When combo box A changes, show the text box with the value from that list. The answer is this. After the box control is created, in the OnChange method: Private Sub cbo_A_Change() Me.txt_Box_B.Text = Me.cbo_A.List(Me.cbo_A.ListIndex) End Sub If that's not right, please clarify your question. Addendum If you just need the selected value when the user clicks on an item in the list, then this should suffice: Private Sub cbo_A_Change() Me.txt_Box_B.Text = Me.cbo_A.List(Me.cbo_A.ListIndex) End Sub @import ". / 6d1f23a050
