Is there a formula for expressing the sum of two powers n^2+n^3 in terms of a power $n^{\{3n\}}$ +...? I thought about induction but I didn't work it out. A: Hint $n^3 + n^2 = n^3 + 2n^2 = n^3 + 2 \cdot n \cdot n = n^{\{n-1\}} \cdot n^1 = (n^n + 2)n^{\{n-1\}}$ Olefin polymerization is accomplished by contacting olefins with a catalyst system comprising a catalyst metal compound of titanium, vanadium, chromium, aluminum, zirconium, silicon, etc. and an organoaluminum compound. In recent years, ethylene and propylene polymers have been widely used in the form of various molded articles, e.g. sheets, films, pipes, gaskets, and caps, etc. and those materials are widely used for sheet molding compound (hereinafter abbreviated as "SMC") and gel-filler molding compound (hereinafter abbreviated as "GFM"). A molded article, particularly in the form of sheet, is usually produced by hot molding, but it is often preferred that the obtained sheet should be of high strength. Moreover, a molded article, particularly in the form of cap, is often required to have satisfactory heat sealing properties because it is used for a container for food or drink. However, ethylene polymer and propylene polymer having a high molecular weight have little in bond strength and are liable to undergo collapse of the sheet or reduced in strength after molding. There has been thus desired a polyolefin polymer having improved properties such as high strength and improved impact strength in the molten state at a high temperature. Propylene polymer and ethylene polymer which are improved in strength have been produced by copoly
