The Department has published its 2004 and 2010 ADA Standards for Accessible Design and has established a process for discussing those standards and public comments on that process. The public comment period closed in April 2011 and the revised standards were published on August 15, 2011. The Department held two public meetings to discuss revisions to the Standards that were significant enough that the public needed to be involved in the process. The final standards were published on December 1, 2011. The American Accessibility Standards Manual is a comprehensive guide to the Standards. The document, titled The American Accessibility Standards Manual: User Guide & Accessibility Software Metrics Manual, can be downloaded here. On December 16, 2009 a final rule adopting the 2009 Edition of the MUTCD was published in the Federal Register with an effective date of January 15, 2010. States must adopt the 2009 National MUTCD as their legal State standard for traffic control devices within two years from the effective date. The Federal Register notice, which provides detailed discussion of the FHWA's decisions on major changes from the 2003 edition, can be viewed at (PDF, 716KB). The Department has assembled into a separate publication the revised regulation guidance that applies to the Standards. The Department included guidance in its revised ADA regulations published on September 15, 2010. This guidance provides detailed information about the Departments adoption of the 2010 Standards including changes to the Standards, the reasoning behind those changes, and responses to public comments received on these topics. The document, Guidance on the 2010 ADA Standards for Accessible Design, can be downloaded from www.ada.gov
