We encourage you to reset your Microsoft Office to a clean install. This can be a very good troubleshooting approach if you are experiencing Office64WW.msi related errors. We recommend that you completely remove your Microsoft Office Installation CD and reinstall Microsoft Office on your computer. Please follow these simple steps to uninstall Microsoft Office: You will now be prompted to insert a new installation CD. Please insert your Office Installation CD and proceed with the un-installation process. Once the uninstallation process is complete you will be prompted to restart your computer. Restart your computer as prompted and continue using your new, clean installation of Microsoft Office. To install the Office 64-bit, click on Add or Remove Programs in Windows Control Panel, select Office and click on the Repair or Replace Office button. The Office 64-bit is installed. You can use Office or create or open files and save them to disk. (If you have Office 32-bit, it will still be there). Note: If you had a 32-bit Office installation on the same computer, the Office 64-bit Installation might delete it because Microsoft Office was not installed in 64 bit mode. If you are planning on installing Office 64-bit over an existing installation of Office, you must make sure it is fully uninstalled. You can do this using Add or Remove Programs in Windows Control Panel. Once your download is complete, we will extract all the files and upload them to our servers. We will not be responsible for any of the data you have copied. You must agree to this when you click on the download button.
